Our Services

At Aldar Projects, we offer a comprehensive range of services designed to support businesses, developers, and government projects from concept to completion. Our primary focus includes project management, where we deliver projects on time and within budget, complete engineering, procurement, and construction (EPC) contracts, and manage every phase of construction accurately and efficiently. We also supply high-quality safety equipment to ensure safe and compliant environments for construction sites and new developments.

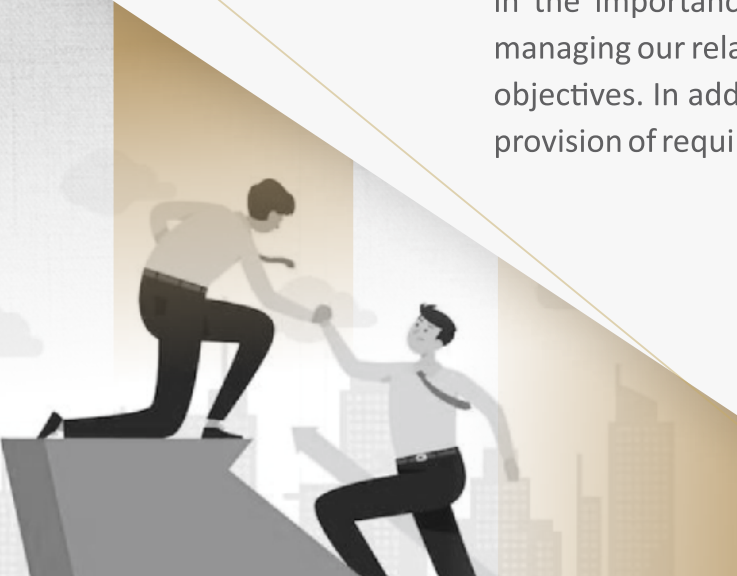

In addition to our core services, we provide strategic consulting and feasibility studies to guide smart, data-driven decisions. Our team also provides innovative marketing management, ensures compliance with quality and standardization standards, and supports effective human resources practices. We have expertise in media studies, to help businesses grow, operate smoothly, and maintain their competitiveness. Whether you're launching a new building, expanding your business, or improving operations, we're here to help you succeed safely, efficiently, and strategically.

How We Work

At Aldar Projects, we adopt a comprehensive and flexible approach to project management, grounded in globally recognized industry best practices and standards, such as Project Management Institute (PMI) guidelines and Agile and Lean methodologies where applicable. Our approach covers the entire project lifecycle, from initial planning and design, through implementation, monitoring, and control, to final closure and delivery. We pay special attention to effectively managing every aspect of the project, including accurately defining and managing the scope of work, setting realistic timelines and regularly monitoring progress, efficiently managing budgets and costs to ensure adherence, and applying strict quality standards to deliver deliverables that exceed expectations.

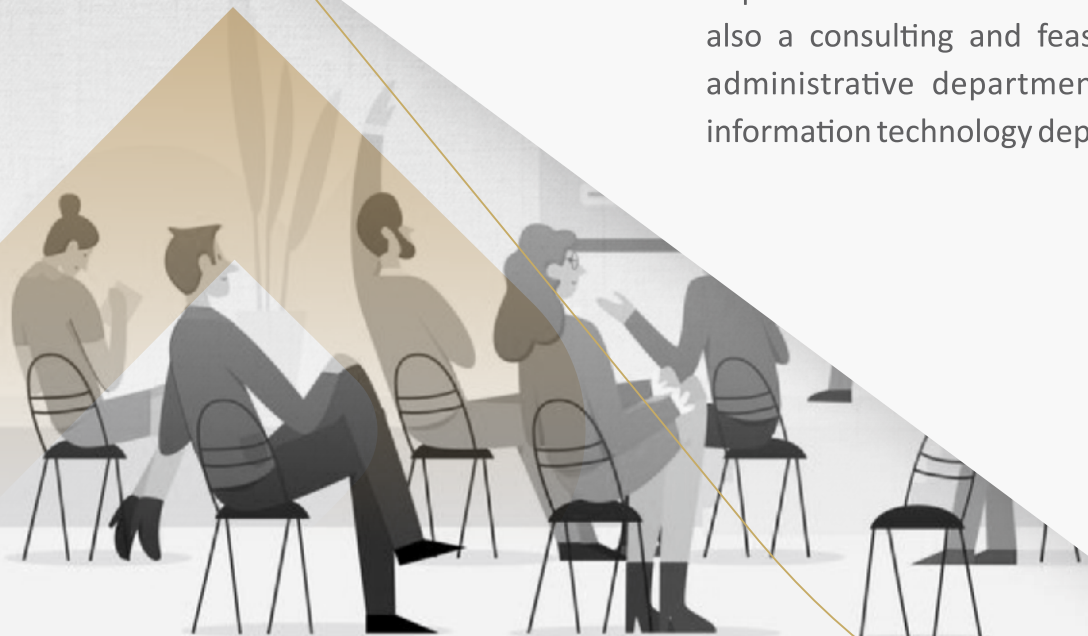

We also focus on optimal management of available resources and proactively identifying, assessing, and managing potential risks to minimize their impact on the workflow. We believe in the importance of effective and transparent communication with all stakeholders and managing our relationships with them in a way that ensures the achievement of shared project objectives. In addition, we pay special attention to our procurement processes to ensure the provision of required materials and services at the best quality and competitive prices.

Functional Structure

Aldar Projects consists of a senior management team that leads the overall vision and strategy, followed by a project management department responsible for planning, implementing, and monitoring various projects. This department is supported by a specialized engineering team that provides technical expertise, and a procurement department that handles supply operations. Additionally, there is a construction department (if the company is directly implementing), a safety equipment department that supplies and markets the project, and a legal department that handles the company's legal affairs and consultations. There is also a consulting and feasibility studies department, a human resources and administrative department, a finance and accounting department, and an information technology department.
